Copyright Alliance to Participate in ImagingUSA, January 14-16 in Nashville

Washington, D.C. – The Copyright Alliance, which represents the copyright interests of over 1.8 million individual creators and more than 13,000 organizations across the spectrum of copyright disciplines, announced today that it will attend ImagingUSA from January 14-16 in Nashville, to provide attendees with copyright information and to answer copyright-related questions.

Hosted by the Professional Photographers Association \(PPA\), ImagingUSA is the longest-running national photographic convention, expo and image exhibition in the United States, bringing together thousands of photographers from around the world for three days of art and business education, networking opportunities, and featuring top speakers from the world of photography.

According to Copyright Alliance CEO Keith Kupferschmid, “We’re excited to participate in ImagingUSA again this year, to provide valuable copyright information to the thousands of photographers who will attend this event. It’s always a pleasure to meet with members of the photography community, and to learn about their specific copyright needs, and ImagingUSA will provide us with an opportunity to do just that.”

According to PPA CEO David Trust, “As a member of the Copyright Alliance, we’re thrilled for the Alliance team to have a presence at this year’s ImagingUSA event – where they will help educate photographers on critical copyright matters, as well as provide an overview of the Alliance’s vast services and resources.”

ImagingUSA attendees are invited to visit with Alliance staff members at booth 950, to register for a free Copyright Alliance membership, sign up for complimentary “office hours” (for answers to copyright-related questions), learn about Creator Spotlight opportunities, and much more.
