Copyright Alliance Welcomes Oppenheim + Zbrak, LLP as its Newest Legal Advisory Board Member

Washington, D.C. – The Copyright Alliance, which represents the copyright interests of over 1.8 million individual creators and more than 13,000 organizations across the spectrum of copyright disciplines, announced the addition of Oppenheim + Zbrak, LLP as the newest member of its Legal Advisory Board (LAB).

Headquartered in Washington, D.C., Oppenheim + Zbrak is known for its compelling advocacy, counseling, and decisive action in complex copyright, anti-piracy, Internet, entertainment, and other legal matters.

According to Scott Zbrak, co-founding partner at Oppenheim + Zbrak, “We are very pleased to be joining the Copyright Alliance, and look forward to working with its staff and with fellow members on critical copyright-related interests and amicus briefs, as we become involved in working groups and key committees to help support the copyright arena.”

Matt Oppenheim, the firm’s managing partner, added: “Our firm has a long and successful history of representing the content community. We are happy to be joining forces with the Copyright Alliance to support our ongoing commitment to copyright and brand protection.”

According to Copyright Alliance CEO Keith Kupferschmid, “I have worked closely with Oppenheim + Zbrak for many years. They are extremely knowledgeable on copyright matters and have been strong advocates for their publisher clients and many others who come to them for copyright-related assistance. As a leading firm in the areas of copyright and anti-piracy (and beyond), their team will contribute significantly to key issues impacting the copyright community as well as Alliance members. I am thrilled to welcome them to the Copyright Alliance’s Legal Advisory Board.”
